INTRODUCTION

The Secretary of State and Registrar General of Canada administers legislation relating to companies, patents of invention, trade marks, copyrights, industrial designs, timber marking, governmental and parliamentary translations, boards of trade, the registration of trade unions, public officers and public documents.

The Secretary of State is the channel of communication with the Governor General and, through him, with the Sovereign concerning various matters, such as decorations and other subjects related to the exercise of the royal prerogative, and is responsible for the preparation and tabling of certain returns in Parliament.

The Registrar General is the custodian of the Great Seal of Canada and of a Privy Seal of the Governor General.

The Decorations Committee and the Committee on the use of Parliament Hill and the National War Memorial report to the Secretary of State. State ceremonial, decorations and precedence, including publication of the Guide to Relative Precedence at Ottawa, are amongst the variety of functions entrusted to the Department of the Secretary of State.

The staff of the department is headed by the Under Secretary of State and Deputy Registrar General of Canada, who is also Deputy Custodian of Enemy Property. Other officers are the directors of the branches enumerated below, namely, Administration and Registration Branch, Companies and Corporations Branch, National Museum of Canada, Patent and Copyright Office, Protocol Branch, Trade Marks Office and Translation Bureau. The activities of these branches, in that order, are outlined in this report.

The Secretary of State is Custodian of Enemy Property and as such administers legislation relative to wartime trading with the enemy. The operations of the Office of the Custodian of Enemy Property are dealt with in a separate report tabled in Parliament annually by the Secretary of State.

The Secretary of State is responsible for the Centennial Commission and the office of the Queen's Printer (Publisher) and is the spokesman in Cabinet and Parliament for the Board of Broadcast Governors, the Canada Council, the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, the Chief Electoral Officer, the Civil Service Commission, the Economic Council of Canada, the National Film Board, the National Gallery, the Public Archives and the Representation Commissioner. However, the present report covers only the operations of the Department of the Secretary of State.

CANADIAN HISTORICAL MUSEUM

Because of the unstable condition of the foundation of the Victoria Museum building and its short-term period of usefulness, planning was begun for one or more new museum buildings.

A working group, made up of representatives of the Department of Public Works, the National Capital Commission, the Department of Finance and the National Museum, was set up to study space requirements for a new museum.

The new Museum will deal with Canadian history in the broadest sense. Starting with a review of Man's place in Nature, it will trace the entry and spread of aboriginal people into North America from Asia, and the development of their cultures as revealed by archaeological and ethnological evidence. The section dealing with European Man in Canada will follow the routes of the early explorers, fur traders and missionaries. It will represent not only the great events that shaped the development of this country, but will also show the way of life of Canadians from the first settlers to the generation before the present. Pioneer arts, crafts, and industries will have a prominent place, as will also the record of social history for illustration of Canadian participation in several armed conflicts, including extensive collections illustrating the armaments of the two World Wars.

Exhibits illustrating the way of life of Canada's Eskimos and Indians are now being built in the National Museum. The historical collections of the Public Archives other than documents and the Department of Agriculture are in process of being turned over to the National Museum for incorporation in the Historical Museum. Large collections of furniture, utensils, tools, vehicles, textiles, clothing, and craft products are being assembled, from which can be prepared exhibits showing household interiors, craft shops, business establishments and professional offices as they might have been in Canada of the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries. Series of objects will show the development of agriculture, of wood-working, of lighting and heating, and of many specialized crafts. Special facilities will be provided to permit demonstration of the actual crafts and arts of the past. Here in the Canadian Historical Museum will be seen the march of events in the past, and the manner in which our ancestors met the challenge of a new land, and expanded their economy and industry.

Canadian Museum of Natural History

The exhibits in the new museum which will be built as an addition to the Canadian Museum of History after 1967, will trace the history of the world, its flora and fauna, with particular reference to Canada.

The highlights of the exhibits in this museum will be the habitat groups, three of which depict birds in their natural haunts, and several display mammals including moose, wood bison, musk-ox, polar bear, caribou, grizzly, antelope, mountain sheep, mountain lion, fox and beaver. All these groups will be transferable to the new building.

In the realm of fossils, newly mounted dinosaurs will show the size and variety of these gigantic reptiles which roamed what is now the Canadian west 65 million years ago. The geology exhibits will depict the wealth of minerals to be found in Canada, the formation of the mountains, valleys, and plains, and the extent and action of the ice sheets which covered much of the land.

New botanical exhibits that are planned include live seasonal specimens of plants from the woods and fields, and panels of leaves and flowers under glass. Other exhibits will deal with fish, reptiles, crustacea and molluscs with their brightly coloured shells.

PATENT AND COPYRIGHT OFFICE

Report of the Commissioner of Patents for the fiscal year ended March 31, 1964.

INTRODUCTION

This report is made pursuant to the requirement of section 27 of the Patent Act, (Chapter 203, R.S.C. 1952 as amended by Chapter 19, and Chapter 40 section 15, 2-3 Eliz. II, 1953-54). The tables included herein contain information concerning the transactions of the Office, patent, copyright, industrial design, and timber mark fees, total receipts and expenditures, trend of invention, residence of inventors for applications filed and residence of inventors for patents granted. Examination and disposal of a patent application by the Office in accordance with the Act and Regulations entail a search for novelty, consideration of inventive subject matter, a decision as to patentability and also verification of compliance with procedural requirements. The statute provides for the grant of a seventeen year exclusive right to the inventor (or his successor in title) in return for his disclosing and making available to the public the product of his inventive genius and labours. It also contains provisions to safeguard the public interest against possible abuses of patent rights.

TRANSLATION BUREAU

Parliamentary and Legal Translations

Translation was made by the respective divisions of the official report of the House of Commons Debates, covering 6,388 pages, the report of the Senate Debates, comprising 984 pages, the proceedings of the standing and special committees of both Houses, and the Estimates.

The Law Division translated 723 public and private bills together with their explanatory notes and indexes.

The Bureau's Privy Council Division, apart from day-to-day translation of orders, proclamations, regulations implementing various acts, and indexes, was responsible for translating international conventions and agreements and many legal documents for the Privy Council. In addition, the Division classified regulations, revised texts of regulations translated by other divisions and dealt with Treasury Board minutes, special orders and other departmental documents.

The parliamentary divisions also did translations for other government agencies and commissions.

There is an increasing demand for the services of the Bureau's interpreters for parliamentary committees. At the request of various departments, interpreters were seconded for a number of conferences, in particular the Colombo Plan Conference in Bangkok, the Federal-Provincial Conferences held in July and September, the Conference of the International Statistics Institute at Carleton University, the Centennial Conference at Ottawa, the Conference of the Regional Forestry Commission of North America, various public hearings of the Board of Broadcast Governors, Royal Commissions and the Congress of the National Productivity Council at Vancouver.

The Translation Bureau continued to train candidates for the interpreter's pool. When not otherwise occupied, the interpreters assist the translators in their regular work.

Departmental Translations

The volume of work of the departmental divisions continued to expand. Nevertheless, it was possible in some cases to reduce the time lag between the publication of the English and French versions.

Among the more important works translated by the divisions are Collective Agreements in the Building Industry by Father Hébert, from French to English; Dr. Charron's report on Health Services, and the report of our Trade Missions in Latin America, the Middle East and Europe.

Foreign Languages

The Foreign Languages Division was again called upon to translate a great variety of material from approximately 40 languages into English and from English into some 15 languages.

As a result of inter-governmental scientific exchange arrangements, much of this material, chiefly Russian and German texts, was of a highly technical or scientific nature. All translations of this type are passed on to the National Research Council and forwarded to the Office of Technical Services of the United States Department of Commerce which lists them in its semi-monthly publication Technical Translations and sells them at cost throughout the world.

Canada's export drive required a large amount of material to be translated into the German, Dutch, Spanish, Italian and Scandinavian languages, while this country's membership in NATO called for the translation of an abundant quantity of foreign military documentation into English.

As usual, the Division translated numerous inter-governmental communications, international agreements and documents relating to immigration, together with legal documents submitted in support of pension claims filed by Canadians of foreign birth.

Co-operation with Other Agencies

The Bureau's staff was called upon to assist other government agencies. The Civil Service Commission in particular was assisted in the marking of translation examination papers and the reviewing of candidates' records in promotional competitions. Assistance was also given to various departmental committees such as the Toponymy Division, Department of Mines and Technical Surveys.

Terminology Service

The Terminology Service dealt with a number of terminological and other bulletins. The Service keeps in touch with many similar bodies abroad and particularly with international organizations from which it receives highly useful vocabularies and terminological lists in exchange for its own. The Service co-operates with, among others, the Comité d'étude des termes techniques français of Paris with which it exchanges information.

Training and Refresher Courses

The Translation Bureau has organized the refresher course for beginners on a systematic basis.

In order to solve the recruitment problem which was impeding its operations, the Bureau set up a training division for candidates who failed to obtain sufficiently high marks in the competitions to be put to work immediately as translators but nevertheless showed a certain ability. The Bureau thus hopes to train a number of translators required for replacements.

Montreal Branch

The Translation Bureau has opened a branch office in Montreal for candidates who, for various reasons, do not apply for employment in Ottawa. This should also help to overcome the difficulties encountered in hiring personnel.
